MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—That practically the entire Wisconsin idea as presented to the Chicago national convention, where it was rejected by the regulars, will embrace the planks in the republican state platform at the convention here tomorrow is the plan of the men in control. Conferences on the proposed planks are being held today with most of the progressive leaders on the ground.

A constitutional amendment providing for the initiative, referendum and recall in elections, as now in operation in the state of Oregon is one of the planks which will undoubtedly be inserted in the platform to be adopted by the Wisconsin republican platform convention which convenes in Madison tomorrow. A law, which is also patterned from the one now in operation in Oregon, providing for a pledge by the candidate for the legislature to abide by

Politicians who have already gathered at Madison have suggested the name of Senator Thomas Morris, La Crosse, for chairman of the platform convention which meets there tomorrow.
"It has not been called to my attention," said Senator Morris, just before leaving for Madison today, "but of course it would be an honor which I would be bound to appreciate. The name of Mr. Ingram has been suggested. I understand."

the result of the primary election for United States senator, giving to the candidate the alternative of making a pledge that he will regard the result of the primary election as only morally binding upon him in case of his election, will also be inserted, it is claimed by political leaders.

It is believed that while there will be no endorsement of President Taft and failure to mention him may be accepted as a silent rebuke, affirmative criticism will be confined to a declaration that the Payne-Aldrich tariff law of 1909 is not a substantial compliance with the National republican platform pledges of 1908. An endorsement of United States is truly an advertising age. Business men the world over are awakening to the great selling power of advertising. It is the very life of business, and it carefully watched will carry the smaller merchants to the topmost round of the ladder.

Do not hesitate because you can't afford as large a space as some others use. Start with a space within your means and enlarge as you can afford it. Nearly all of the large advertisers started this way.

The most successful advertisers use the evening papers because they are delivered right to the homes at a time when the entire family has time to read. The TRIBUNE should carry your advertising every day.

TAWNEY COMES OUT FOR MR. ANDERSON

Defeated Winonans Tells Congressional Committee
in Chicago He will Aid

COMMITTEE TO HELP TOO

Insurgents and Regulars
Alike to Get Aid in Hope to Prevent a Democratic Victory

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Whether insurgent or standpatter, all republican nominees for congress are to have the support of the national republican congressional campaign committee; furthermore the attacks on the insurgents made, will be stopped, though their views may not be in accord with the standpat crowd.

This was the word sent out today following the conference by members of the congressional committee here last night. Although Speaker Cannon, who attended the conference, had considerable trouble choking down the pledge of the committee welcoming the insurgents to the fold, he was told that such action had to be taken to guard against the election of a democratic congress.

Congressman Tawney, recently defeated for re-nomination in Minnesota, started the ball rolling by announcing that he would support Sydney Anderson, the insurgent nominee. It had been rumored that Tawney might run as an independent.

Boutell Wanted to Run
Tawney's action, and the statement given out by the committee, it is believed, finally settles any ambitions some of the defeated standpat congressmen have entertained to run as independents. Boutell of Illinois was considering such action and will probably sound President Taft along these lines, but the congressional committee will not be his backer. The committee says that reports from throughout the central west indicate that the republicans are awakening the importance of electing a republican congress by united action. They branded the reports that support would not be given the insurgent candidates as "an unjust reflection upon the political integrity of the committee and unqualifiedly untrue."

All candidates have been left free to choose their own campaign literature so that insurgent literature will go in insurgent districts and the standpatters will get their own brand.

AUTOS CRASH AT 70 MILES AN HOUR

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Sept. 26.—Billy Knipper, diver of the Lancia car, an Bob Burman, driver of a Buick car, together with their mechanics, had narrow escapes from death today when Knipper, driving at seventy miles an hour through the dense fog that enshrouded the Vanderbilt cup course, crashed into Burman's car.

Both Knipper and his mechanic were thrown fifty feet through the air, but fell clear of the car and were practically unhurt. Knipper, however, was dazed and dashed away through the fields. Burman had to pursue him a mile before he could stop him and have his hurts attended.

The course is very rough and Louis Chevrolet, one of the most daring drivers, declared today he expected serious accidents in the big race Saturday.

TAILORS DEMAND WAGE INCREASE

Local Union Wants from 15
to 20 Per Cent More and Threaten Walkout

Demanding from 15 to 25 per cent increase in wages per garment and threatening to walk out with the unfinished jobs on the hands of their employers the local union of the Journeymen Tailors today served notice that an agreement to their demands must be signed by tomorrow. Stavrum & Hulberg, Thomas Herman, A. Munson and other leading tailoring establishments maintain that they cannot possibly agree to the demands of the union men while the Servis Tailoring company has made no decision on the matter.

"To grant the demands of the tailors," said Oscar Hulberg of the firm of Stavrum & Hulberg today, "we would have to cheapen the goods put in the suits. Rather than turn out poor goods we will quit the tailoring business."

That they can't afford it is also the plea of Thomas Herman and A. Munson. The union tailors are at present receiving approximately $7.65 for coats, $2.35 for trousers and $2 for vests.

LEWIS MACHINISTS OF RACINE RETURN

RACINE, Wis., Sept. 26.—Half of the 500 machine hands of the Mitchell-Lewis Motor Company, who went out on a strike a week ago returned to work this morning and the others will be taken in as soon as the foreman can place them. The strike was settled through the efforts of John Murphy, member of the Wisconsin state board of arbitration, and the men go back at the old scale but with the assurance that Mr. Fathergill, the obnoxious general inspector, shall have nothing to do with the machinists henceforth and as this was the disputed point the men look upon the settlement as a victory.

ROOSEVELT READY FOR BIG BATTLE

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 26.—When Col. Roosevelt rolls into this village late this afternoon, one of his first callers will be Lou Paine of Chatham, one of the leading veterans of the "old guard." He will visit the new "boss" of the republican organization to appeal to him to be merciful. The old guard is "licked to a frazzle" and they admit in private, although outwardly they are still insisting that they have control. It is said Roosevelt may make some compromises.

BRIBE TAKER TELLS COMMITTEE STORY

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Representative Charles White, who first gave to the public the story of bribery in connection with the election of Wm. Lorimer to the United States senate, was the first witness called today.

From the frequent clashes between Attorney Austrian, representing the Chicago Tribune, and the legislative voters' league, and Attorney Haney, counsel for Lorimer, it is evident that the hearing would be bitterly fought.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—That L. H. Bancroft, Richard Center, proposes to make a test case of the nomination of a dead man on the state ticket is declared by his friends to be his determination. It is said this afternoon that legal advice convinced Judge Bancroft that he "ought to have the question adjudicated." Immediately after the primary Bancroft made a public statement in which he declared that the result showed he was not the choice and that he would make no contest involving a dead man.

LA FOLLETTE GOT 144,056 VOTES

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—The state board of canvassers completed the work today of the official figures, showing La Follette received 144,056 votes, and Cook 41,342. The result for governor is: McGovern 52,265, Lewis 40,879, Fairchild 55,933, Barker 5,973, Strange 5,845, Schmitz (democrat) 48,971.

Can't Appoint Ticket.
Attorney General Gilbert issued an opinion on the interpretation of the 20 per cent law, which fails to sustain the prohibition leaders' contention that "vacancies" on their ticket due to light vote cast may be filled by appointment.

HASKELL CASE GOES ON TODAY

MALESTER, Okla., Sept. 26.—Further delay in the trial of Gov. G. U. Haskell and others, charged with conspiracy in the Muskogee town loaves was temporarily avoided, when court opened here today. Presiding Judge John A. Marshall overruled a motion of the defense to refile a demurrer on the ground that objection could be raised when proof is attempted. Judge Marshall ordered the calling of jurors to proceed.

IDAHO CLAIMS TROPHY

FORT MONROE, Va., Sept. 26.—The battleship Idaho claims the gunnery trophy as the result of the target practice with a score of 14 per cent of hits. The nearest competitor is believed to be the Minnesota with 13.02 per cent.

LA FOLLETTE TO DELAY OPERATION

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 26.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin has improved so much physically of late that he has decided to postpone indefinitely his trip to this city for an examination and operation by Mayo Brothers.

This information is contained in a personal letter written to a very close friend in this city and received here Sunday. Whether or not he will be able to make an active campaign was not stated in the letter, but the inference of the recipient was that the senator expected to get out quite a bit, unless ordered strictly to the contrary by his physicians.

Fair Weather Coming
Showers and cooler tonight.
Tuesday generally fair.

This is the forecast made by the weather bureau today and Weather Observer E. C. Thompson gives a very encouraging forecast for the next few days. He says that while it is impossible to forecast the weather for three days at this time of the year, the weather map today indicates that tomorrow will be clear and cool, and after that it will become warmer and that indications are that the next three days will be fair and moderately warm.

This is very encouraging to the fair management and it is said if the weather man keeps his promise that the crowds at the fair this year will break all records. The fair is here, better than ever, and all that is needed to make it a great success is good weather to allow the people of this section of the country to attend. They all want to come and they will come if it don't rain.

The fair grounds were a busy place today and by this evening the big fair will be ready for its opening which takes place tomorrow. For a number of years Tuesday, the first day, has been designated as La Crosse day and it is expected that the attendance tomorrow will break all records for an opener. Business men, jobbers and manufacturers have all consented to close their places of business in the afternoon in order to allow their employees to visit the exposition.

Never since the Interstate fair was organized twenty years ago, have the prospects looked brighter on the eve of the fair. Secretary Van Auker says the exhibits are here and all it needs now is favorable weather and success is sure to come. More cattle, sheep, swine and poultry are on the grounds than ever in the history of the fair. One exhibitor from Iowa is alone showing 55 hogs. Exhibitors who never before exhibited at the Interstate fair are here and some of the stock departments are filled to overflowing and some of the horse stalls will have to be utilized. All day yesterday stock was being unloaded at the west entrance to the grounds and a large amount of stock was hauled to the grounds from the Northwestern and Milwaukee depots. Nearly all the stock exhibits and race horses that were at the Chippewa Falls fair arrived here yesterday.

One of the features of the fair will be the woman's department, located in the northeast corner of the exposition building. The entry clerks in this department notified Secretary Van Auker that up to Saturday evening they had more entries in this department than they had altogether last year and yesterday many more were received and all day today they have been pouring in. Fancy work, oil paintings and other articles are coming from all parts of the country and the women will certainly be given a rare treat.

Exposition Building
The exposition building was a scene of activity today. Every booth in the large building will be occupied and the exhibits that are being arranged will be very attractive. The north end of the building, as usual, is devoted to the art department and some very valuable paintings are on exhibition. The fruit exhibit from British Columbia is also a great feature.

Every foot of space on the "Midway" has been sold and the association has been very fortunate in securing some splendid attractions. The street is lined with shows and everything is in readiness for the crowds that will visit the grounds tomorrow.

One of the best attractions is Ben

STEEL TRUST MAY HOLD THE POWER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—Indiana's gory political rival New York today as a center of interest. In Indiana a big question is whether the steel trust will cast the vote that will decide the senatorial contest between Beveridge, republican, and Kern, democrat.

More than 10,000 stolid, indifferent natives of southern Europe, employed in the mills of the trust at Gary, Ind., have recently been naturalized. A third of that number voted in a solid mass according to instructions. It is alleged, at the last presidential election. It is claimed that the force will be equally obedient and that the man who directs their voting may hold the balance of power.

CABINET MEETS TODAY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—When President Taft assembled his cabinet in the White House today intense interest was manifested in the convention to be held in New York and the campaign opening in Indiana tomorrow but there was an apparent tendency to postpone as far as possible, the discussion of political plans until after the results are known. For this reason, it was determined to clean up as much routine department business as possible today and tomorrow.

ZAJACICK STEPS BEFORE A TRAIN

Would-be Suicide Tries it
Again and Conductor
Cuddy Has to Hold
Crazed Man

Attempting suicide by throwing himself before incoming Burlington passenger train No. 51 at 6 o'clock last night, Joe Zajacick, laborer, residing between Ninth and Tenth on Denton street, was saved only through the efforts of his wife who risked her life to frustrate his mad act.

Zajacick had been drinking, it is alleged, and this is given as a partial explanation of his rash attempt.

Just as 6 o'clock Burlington passenger train No. 51 had rounded the bend near the soap factory, Zajacick, who was walking with his wife, rushed onto the track and waited for the monster engine to strike him. With a scream his wife was after him and seizing him by the arms attempted to drag him from the path of the train, only to be grabbed by the half-crazed man and held in the center of the track.

Engineer Ed Freeman, 2023 Main street, brought the train to a stop within a few feet of the pair and Fireman J. G. Peterson ran ahead of the train and threw the man from the track.

Zajacick was quieted by members of the train crew and his wife and the train started to move forward, when, without warning, he jerked from the grasp of his wife and again threw himself in front of the wheels. His wife again attempted to save him. The train was brought to a stop and Conductor George Cuddy held the man until the train passed and then boarded the last car.

Zajacick had been drinking, it is alleged, and was very much under the influence of whiskey at the time of the alleged attempted suicide.

MAN WHO WORSTED ALDRICH, CHOICE

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 26.—With the arrival here of many of the lesser lights in the democratic party for the state convention on Thursday, the feeling is growing that Congressman James S. Havens, who defeated "Boss" Aldrich last spring, will be the democratic nominee for governor.

IS THE VERY BEST

Charles Brownell, a Traveler who has seen the Play, Praises "Mrs. Dot" as Great Piece

"La Crosse people will enjoy a treat in Miss Billie Burke's play, 'Mrs. Dot,' said Charles Brownell, of Eau Claire, a traveling salesman who is in the city today.

"I recently saw the show," continued Mr. Brownell, "and Miss Burke strikes me as the cleverest, polite comedy star in the business. As an impersonator of innocent, mischievous, buoyant girlhood, she has no equal on the English speaking stage.

"I have seen Miss Burke before. In 'Love Watches,' she had the role of a little French bride. In 'Mrs. Dot,' she appears in the role of an English widow, but still youthful and beautiful. Mrs. Dot, who has been left an enormous fortune by her late husband—a brewer—has fallen in love with a handsome, but impetuous young aristocrat. As he doesn't propose quickly enough to suit her impetuosity, she pops the question to him and he—refuses her! But Mrs. Dot is not a wooer to be discouraged by one no. She wins at last and the play shows how she does it. I know of no comedy more amusing and entertaining than this. La Crosse people are fortunate in having the play come here."

TELLS OF OPERATING
COST OF THE M. P.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—B. J. McPherson, general manager of the Missouri Pacific railroad, was before the interstate commerce commission today in the freight rate hearing. He declared the net operating increase from which dividends must be paid was but $2,841,261. The total revenues of the road year end June 30 was $2,163,246, he said, and the anticipated operating expenses of the coming year amount to $20,704,391 which includes an anticipated increase in coal prices and wages.

It was expected that when the hearing adjourned that but three more days would be devoted to testimony from this section.

ASK PARDON FOR
JOHN R. WALSH

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—Asserting that within a few months he would be beyond human aid, attorneys for John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker now serving a term in Leavenworth prison for lending money to his own concerns, filed at the department of justice today a petition urging President Taft to pardon the aged prisoner. Letters from thousands of persons, bound in twenty-five volumes, were submitted in support of the petition which is a printed pamphlet of 29 pages signed by the prisoner's wife and two sons. After the documents have been examined at the pardon bureau, they will be forwarded to the president.

Walsh was sentenced December 3, 1909, to a term of five years. His failure in 1905 was a country wide sensation, thousands of persons being involved in the crash.

"Walsh is 73 years old and is suffering from an incurable malady," said Attorney George Buckingham of Chicago, who filed the petition today. "Unless soon released he will be beyond human assistance. All officers and directors of the 'Walsh bank' now living have joined in the application, together with all of the stockholders who are alive and could be located.

"All of the hundreds of depositors who could be traced, have (with a single exception) also joined, stating to the president that they did not lose a cent."

JOHN RACKLEMAN
FALLS INTO RIVER

While fishing at Crosby point with a number of friends, John Rackleman, who recently returned from a trip to Germany, fell into the river and was rescued by some of his companions. He was standing on a tree, which had been blown down, and his weight broke the tree. He attempted to grab hold of some branches overhead, but these, too, broke, and he was precipitated into the water. Although badly frightened he was none the worse for his experience, and after being provided with dry clothing he said he felt good.

SAYS RAILROADS
HAVE BEEN LICKEDSecretary of Manufacturers
Declares Charges of the Roads Are Merely
'Baby Act'

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—"The railroads know they are whipped and are now playing the baby act by endeavoring to trump up silly charges against the shippers. Even if the shippers were guilty of violating any regulations the railroads are also guilty and should be sent to jail with them."

"The charges made by the Railway Age-Gazette are absolutely false."

This was the reply of John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, today to an editorial published in the railway magazine charging that shippers belonging to the association had secured rebates from the railroads in the form of excessive rebates for losses and damage to freight. The magazine also charged that the shippers also went to the railroads and demanded that their rates be cut through big transit privileges and other means.

"This is foolish," said Glenn. "Any one knows that even if a shipper had tried to do this no railroad would do it until it wanted to."

"The railroads see that public sentiment is against them and they are licked. The Illinois Manufacturers' Association has violated no laws oring to find something on which to stand."

POPULAR GIRL OF
VICTORY IS DEAD

VICTORY, Wis., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—Mr. John L. Johnson and his wife, Antoinette, former residents of this city, mourn the loss of their youngest daughter, Muriel Alma Johnson, who died on the 20th inst. and was buried the 23rd, at the cemetery in Victory. The pallbearers were Miss Edna Page, May Hartly, Alva Adams, Audrey Arneson. Rev. James of the M. E. church of DeSoto officiated.

The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends from La Crosse as well as friends and neighbors from Victory. The floral offerings were beautiful. The public school was closed during the funeral and the children marched to the grave with large and beautiful bouquets of flowers, which decorated the grave.

It would be awfully monotonous if we could please everybody.

BEGIN PROBE OF
RAILROAD DISASTER

DENVER, Col., Sept. 26.—With six of the sixteen dead still unidentified, Rock Island officials have started an investigation of the disastrous wreck near Clayton, Kansas, yesterday when a St. Louis-Denver passenger train plunged over a high trestle into a creek swollen by a cloudburst.

Official advices from the scene of the wreck today indicate that no blame attaches to any one; that the trestle was washed out by a flood and that it would have been practically impossible for anyone to have discovered the washout in time to warn the train. The advice also indicates that the six unidentified dead bodies probably will never be identified, as they are mangled and mutilated, some of them beyond semblance of human forms.

The Identified Dead

The identified dead are:
F. Pickenpaugh, engineer, Goodland, Kan.; A. V. Huffman, baggage-man, Kansas City, Mo.; J. W. Usher, conductor, Denver; Herman Muler, passenger, Smith Center, Kan.; John Sloop, passenger, Boyle, Kan.; W. E. Shively, passenger, Argo, Kan.; W. Mille, fireman, Goodland, Kan.; Gilbert H. Evans, passenger, Fullerton, Kan.; W. J. Boyers, Ruford, Kan.; H. McIntyre, Ruford, Kan.

The engine and baggage car went into the flood, the combination car was thrown on end at the edge of the stream and the day coach was telescoped by a chair car. Most of the killed were in the day coach. Not a Pullman passenger was injured.

Engineer Pickenpaugh was found dead, crushed and mangled, against his emergency brakes. In the day coach of the body of a girl was found with her body cut in two pieces and the headless trunk of a man lay nearby. Several bodies were found crushed almost to a jelly with an arm or leg lying several feet away.

The dead and injured were taken to Morton as fast as they were taken from the wreck, some not being taken out until nightfall, owing to the difficulty in disentangling the twisted wreckage.

PICKS PHILADELPHIA
TO WIN FIRST GAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Ty Cobb, champion batter of the American league, and one of the recognized brilliants of the game, picks the Philadelphia Athletics to beat the Chicago Cubs in the coming world's championship series if both teams play to their usual form and if the lucky game is at all evenly balanced.

Writing in the New York Evening World, Cobb explains his choice in this way: "By 'form,' I mean the style of play that has made each of these teams the champion of its league. By 'luck' I mean the uncertainty, the element of chance that makes baseball the favorite game of the people of the United States.

"In a series of seven games for the championship of the world, the team that wins the first game has 'an ace in the hole,' to use a poker term. That first game puts its winner on a pedestal to which the loser is trying to climb. The Philadelphia Americans and the Chicago Nationals are both 'fast starters.' To judge them by their past performances they should both put up the cleverest, hardest sort of ball in that first game and if they do and the Goddess of Fortune keeps her hand off, I think that Philadelphia will win."

FLETCHER TO FIGHT
BASEBALL MAGNATES

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 26.—Baseball fans, who have lost interest in the National and American league races will be entertained by Cincinnati parties, ably assisted by various baseball moguls, located in other cities under the start of the world's series.

Jefferson Livingston and E. V. Wilbern, Cincinnati millionaires, President Herrmann, of the national commission, President Lynch, of the National League, President Ban Johnson of the American league and the heads of various National and American league clubs will be some of the principal actors in this baseball play. D. A. Fletcher, maker of baseball insurgents, and the wealthy bakers will play equally important parts. Since the action of the National commission in declaring against the series proposed by Fletcher, Livingston and Wilbern, have quit the game and want to stop the payment of the certified checks, which were sent to players under contract. They are being aided by National and American league officials. Fletcher has retained authorities and says he will fight not only to pull off the proposed games but also see that the players get an opportunity to cash the certified checks.

Fletcher announces, however, that the case will not be fought in the Cincinnati courts but will be taken to some other city where the courts are freer from political influence.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—With an artery in the right wrist severed and a handkerchief knotted about his neck, the body of Russell Rold, a wealthy real estate broker and contractor of Rogers Park, Ill., found under a bridge over the Chicago river.

Rold had bled to death, but police have not determined what it was murdered or committed suicide. An inquest is being held tomorrow.

Rold's relatives believe he was murdered.

It may be just as easy to make friends as to make enemies, but a rule our friends cost us more.

If a man is writing letters about it, it doesn't take much of a fact to be large enough to be called a ranch.

LA CROSSE DAY

Tomorrow the interstate fair will be officially opened to the public,
and after a painstaking investigation
of the facts we confidently resort to the sometimes abused phrase, "bigger and better than ever." The directors have neglected no opportunity to improve the show, and we predict that people in this section will find gratification in the result.

Tomorrow is La Crosse day. We are apt to acquire the habit of regarding this as a bid for support based upon patriotism rather than
upon the idea of getting value received. It is a patriotic duty to attend this fair, the successful continuance of which is of large general
importance to the people of this community. In this connection attention may be called to the fact that those municipalities which give large patronage to their fairs and other local institutions of similar character are uniformly found to be the cities
whose public spirit and industry promote constantly expanding trade,
wider activity and substantial prosperity.

However, on behalf of the directors of the interstate fair we take pleasure in saying that in attending the fair tomorrow La Crosse people will not only give evidence of their loyalty to the city, but will seize an opportunity to secure important advantages at a trifling cost. The man who is in business here, the property

holder and the industrial worker improves his status as a citizen and promotes the general welfare to his own profit by keeping in touch with those productive influences within the local trade area that may be measured by the fair exhibits. There is no more profitable day in the year than that spent by the resident at the fair grounds, nor in view of the extent of the exhibits and the time required for their inspection is it too much for any citizen to give of his time and money if he shall spend two or three days at the exposition.

The Tribune urges a large attendance tomorrow, and takes this means of warning the weather man to quit
grumbling and to refrain from interference with the big show.

"TAG DAY"
The successful outcome of "Tag
Day" was the pleasant news which Sunday morning brought the people of La Crosse. That this humane and beneficent enterprise terminated
more prosperously than had been anticipated is a certificate of good character for the people of this community. And if Miss Gertrude Hogan will pardon a personal reference,
we want to say that to a large degree the success of the effort was due to competent management and to the hearty and intelligent co-operation of those whom she enlisted in the work. Particularly are the young women of the city entitled to credit.
Dignity and patriotism characterized the performance of a task set for this public in the interest of humanity and charity, and we felicitate the various societies and many citizens who contributed their efforts upon a most satisfactory achievement.

FRANK E. SMITH
Now that it is pretty much all over, and the people of this city are again getting water that, if not pure,
is at least fit for the lavatory, it seems equitable to pause and pay our respects to a citizen who brought about that result.

We refer to Mr. Frank E. Smith.
It is not the practice of this paper to indulge in "soft soap," but Mr. Smith did a good job. He left his work and put himself out to do it. He went at it "hammer and tongs," as is his way, and he stuck to it until it was finished. He did not do it for glory,
for the mud that accompanies that sort of glory is distasteful to him.
He did it because it needed to be done, and he knew it. His practical knowledge, and his experience as an alderman, equipped him to go to the bottom of the matter. We say Mr.
Smith deserves a vote of thanks for his interest and activity.

Mr. Smith will not be popular at the city hall. Up there folks are interested so deeply in a new water plant that they think too little about the old. We believe they are right in their declarations in favor of a better plant, although we are not prepared to endorse any particular plan for such a step. But we believe their first and greatest duty is to give us
the best water the old one can be made to afford. We believe, now, that they agree with this point of view.

GOOD TIMBER

To those who heard it Sydney Anderson's speech at Lanesboro must have appeared as notable for its strength and good taste. Indeed, the candidate's modest attitude made fully as deep an impression as did his cogent presentation of the status
of his campaign, and what it means.
This "boy" (hear Mr. Tawney) has been made the instrument for defeating one of the half dozen most powerful men in the national republican party. He does not exult, he does not strut. He ascribes the victory to the voters, recognizes himself as an instrumentality, and turns courageously
to face the immense responsibility
that has come with the first victory.

The Tribune has said, and it now
repeats, that the First Minnesota
district has found better raw material than it found when it discovered James A. Tawney eighteen years ago.

At The Theater

MISS BILLIE BURKE AND "MRS. DOT"

Miss Billie Burke and "Mrs. Dot"
one of the newest things in Maugham comedies will be the attraction
at the La Crosse Theater tonight.
Miss Burke has already been seen
in "My Wife" and "Love Watches," both adaptations from the French. In both of them she played young girls
—the sort of thing for which nature has especially fitted her. In "Mrs. Dot," she is called upon to go something more—something different. Here she impersonates a youthful widow—but still a widow.
And in New York, where she played
the piece last winter, they say
she is more charming than ever.

Mrs. Dot has $300,000 a year—
left her by her brewer husband. She is in love with a handsome young fellow without a penny. He seems to return her affection, but still he doesn't ask her to marry him. Maybe it is her money, she thinks, so
being of an impetuous disposition, she pops the question to him. And —has Maugham ever conceived a more whimsical situation?—he refuses her—beauty, $300,000 a year
and all.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT

Chauncey Olcott, easily the foremost of the exponents of Irish character parts in this country will soon
be seen here in his new play "Barry of Ballymore," by Rida Johnson Young. There is no form of entertaining more charming in its elements than a good wholesome Irish play, well wrought, and telling a good story. The class of dramas presented by Mr. Olcott in the past have won ecumenism from theatregoers all over the country and it goes without saying that the latest addition to his repertoire is just as charming and interesting as any he has yet
presented. The period in which Mrs.
Young has laid her story is the same as that in which Charles Lever, Thomas Maxwell and other of the Irish novelists sought their materials, and is a field which has not been entered by any novelist or playwright for some years. "Barry
of Ballymore," therefore is a distinct novelty in the dramatic field which will be welcomed by all who are fond of the dashing Irishman of the eighteenth century, a type which now exists only in story. Mr. Olcott has written a cycle of new songs to fit the piece, and which are promised to be ahead of anything he has done in a long time. The production, which has been built under the personal direction of Augustus Pitouri, is unusually elaborate and worthy of that veteran in the art of stage-craft. La Crosse Theater

MISS BILLIE BURKE, APPEARING IN "MRS. DOT" AT LA CROSSE THEATRE TONIGHT

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

A Trip Ruined

Our trip was spoiled.
I'm glad we're home;
We went to Munich,
Leipsic, Rome,
In Paris we
Had lots of fun,
But now that all
Is said and done,
Our trip was spoiled.
It is a sin,
We failed to smuggle
An article in.

Ma had silks,
And some Irish laces
Stuffed in her waist
And other places.
I had gloves
And some coral beads,
And a few little things
That a woman needs.
Some in my stockings
And some in my hair,
And we never dreamed
That those men would care.

But what do you think,
The mean old things!
They searched our trunks
For hidden springs;
They eyed us up
And they eyed us down,
And they laughed at the fit
Of Mamma's gown.
Then they called a woman,
Who made us strip,
And that just ruined
Our ocean trip.

The Royal Hams

"The most successful swindlers," said James R. Keene at a dinner at Saratoga during the races, "are those that have a basis of honesty."
It's like the story of King Edward's pigs.

"At Sandringham, you know, King Edward raised prize swine, prize bul-
locks and all manner of fancy live stock. Well, there was a fashionable West End butcher who bought all the king's fat swine every year at a simply enormous price, and a reporter said to this butcher one day:

"How can you afford to pay
such prices for the royal swine?"

"Well, you see," said the butcher, with a wink of the eye, "the king's pigs have such a lot of legs!"

A Discerning Boy

Big Bill Edwards, New York's
herculean street-cleaning commissioner, was being congratulated on the prompt bravery wherewith he saved Mayor Gaynor's life.

"You are so mild and jocular,"
the reporter said, "one would hardly suspect your fire-eating qualities."
"Oh, yes, I'm very mild," said
Mr. Edwards; and he added, modestly anxious to change the subject:
"I believe in mildness. I'm not like the Exeter boy."

"A teacher at Exeter said to one of his pupils in the course of a lecture on popularity:

"Now, Schermerhorn, if you are kind and polite and forgiving to all your playmates, what will happen?"
"They'll all think they can lick
me," Schermerhorn answered."

Official

"We have had an official warning
not to burn much gas this month."
"I never heard of such a thing."
"Oh, yes, it was last month's bill."

The CARLETON CASE

By ELLERY H. CLARK

Copyright by Bobbs-Merrill Company

Henry Carleton nodded grimly.
"Yes it does," he added dryly,
most of us make that discovery sooner or later. And generally for ourselves, too. And when you mention security, Jack, you've come right down to the root of the whole trouble. We might as well acknowledge it now. I can't help you myself. I tell you so frankly. I couldn't use trust funds for such a purpose, of course. Any one would tell you that. That's out of the question.
And my own money is hopelessly tied up. I couldn't get the sum you need under a month, if I could then.
But there's one thing I might do. It isn't business. I hate to try it. But I don't want to see you disgraced, Jack if I can help it. Wait here a minute, I'll see—"

He rose and walked over to the telephone booth in the rear of the office, and entering, closed the door behind him. In two minutes he came back to his desk, penciled a name on a card, and handed it to Jack. "This fellow Farrington," he said shortly, "is under some obligations to me. I think you'll get what you want from him. Better see him anyway. He's in the Jefferson Building, top floor. I told him you'd be there in ten minutes, at the most."

Jack Carleton rose. "I'm much obliged, Henry," he said, a little lambly, "you're very good. I'm much obliged. I'll go right over, of course."

The other stood gazing at him with a curious expression on his swarthy face, a curious gleam far back in his dark eyes. "Don't mention it," he said smoothly. "Carletons must stand together, Jack. We mustn't bring dishonor on the name, whatever we do."

Unerringly he had pierced the weak joint in the armor. Jack's face went white before he spoke with effort. "No," he answered, "we mustn't do that," and turning, he left the room.

Up-town toward the Jefferson Building he hurried, half-daring, yet half-fearing, to hope. Noting the number of the room on the flamed directory placarded within,
he left the elevator at the tenth
floor, and hastening down the corridor, paused opposite the door. Externally the office was a modest
one, with "H. O. Farrington, Agent," inscribed in plain black lettering on the glass. Entering, he found the interior to correspond. A tiny room, with a small enclosure at one end, within which sat Farrington himself, a man perhaps best described by saying that he perfectly typified that somewhat vague being whom most of us have in mind when we speak glibly of "average man."

"Average" best described him in height, build, and appearance, the nondescript sort of person whom one meets on Monday, and passes in the street on Tuesday, wholly unconscious of ever having seen him before.

As Jack entered, he glanced up quickly. "Mr. Carleton," he questioned, and as Jack nodded, motioned to a chair. "Just a minute," he said, and bent over his writing
again. Presently, as he stopped, and reached for a sheet of blotting
paper, Jack ventured to speak. "I don't know how much you know about this," he began, but the other raised his hand. "All right,"
he said briefly, and shoved a check
and a receipt across the desk.
"Sign, please."

Mechanically, Jack glanced at the check. It was for the amount required. Mechanically, too, he signed the receipt, and handed it back to Farrington. Half unable to realize his good fortune, he rose, the check in his hand. "I'm greatly obliged," he said.

Farrington made no reply. Evidently words with him were precious things. Perforce Jack turned to go, and then, half-way to the door, turned.

"Mr. Farrington," he said hesitatingly, "if things should go lower—"

Farrington did not look up.
"They won't," he said tersely.

Again Jack hesitated. Then, finally, "But if they should—" he said again.

A little impatiently, Farrington
raised his head. "We'll see you through," he said, "Good night." And Jack, not disposed to quarrel
further with fortune, closed the door behind him.

It was a quarter of ten on the morning following when he entered Turner and Driver's office, advancing to meet the senior partner with the little strip of paper in his outstretched hand. Turner took it eagerly enough, and as he scanned
the amount, he nodded, while a wrinkle or two seemed to vanish
from his puckered and frowning
brow. Then he looked up. "Well,
you got it," he said, and Carleton hastened to assent. "Oh, yes," he returned lightly, "I got it all right.
Why didn't you think I would?"

The broker shrugged his shoulders. "Hard telling anything these days," he answered, "but I'll tell you one thing, though: you're mighty lucky to be able to put your hands on it so easy. There'll be more than one poor devil this morning who would pretty near give his soul for a tenth part of what you've got here. It's a bad time for customers, Jack, and I don't mind telling you—" he lowered his voice
confidentially—"that it's a bad time for brokers, too. A little piece of paper like this—" he waved the check gently and fro—"is a nice comforting sight for a man;

between you and me, I wouldn't mind seeing three or four mates to
it. Yes, I'm glad to get it all right,
on my account, and on yours, too."

Jack nodded. Somehow, entirely without justification, as he well knew, the check had given him a feeling of great stability; at once,
on receiving it, he had felt that he had risen in his own self-esteem.
"Yes," he assented, "I'm glad. Myself; and you needn't worry about my account, Jim. We'll just leave it this way. Don't treat mine as an ordinary account; don't sell me out, whatever happens. I've friends that'll see me through anything. If things should go lower, and you should need more margin, just let me know, and I'll get it over to you right away. Will that be satisfactory?"

The broker nodded. "Why, yes, Jack," he answered, "knowing the way you're fixed, I guess that'll be all right, though with nine men out of ten, of course I wouldn't consider such a way of doing things.
Business is business, and when it comes right down to the fine point,
why, it's the cold hard cash that counts, and nothing else; not friendship, or honor, or gratitude,
or common decency, even—" both face and voice had hardened as he spoke; it was not his first panic—
and then his look met Carleton's
fairly and squarely. "But with you,
Jack," he continued, "it's different,
as I say. Only let's be perfectly sure that we understand each other.
I don't believe myself, you know, that things can go much lower. I think the chances are they've steadied for good; but for argument, let's suppose they do. Then,
as I understand it, you don't want to have me sell you out at any price, no matter how far they break.
You'll make good any time I ask you to. You give me your word on that?"

Carleton readily enough assent-
ed. "Why, sure," he answered
lightly, "of course I do; you needn't worry; I'll make good," and the broker nodded, well pleased.

"One thing less to bother over,
then," he said. "You'll excuse me
now, Jack, won't you? This is going to be a horrible busy day anyway,
and the Lord send it's nothing
worse than that; it wouldn't take much now to raise the very deuce."

As he spoke the News Despatch boy entered, tossing down on the table a half dozen sheets fresh from the press. Turner glanced at them,
and handed them over to Carleton,
shaking his head as he did so.
"London's not feeling gay," he observed, "I call that a pretty ragged opening myself. I don't know what you think of it."

Carleton read and nodded. It seemed as if everything in the half dozen pages made for discouragement. London had opened weak—lamentably weak. There were rumors of this—rumors of that—sickly, unhealthy mushroom growths of the night. There was talk of failures—suspensions—financial troubles of every kind—
even the good name of a great bank
was handled carelessly to and fro.
Silently Turner crossed the room,
and took his seat at his desk; silently Carleton walked out into the customers' room, and joined the other unfortunates who had come slowly straggling in, and who now stood around the ticker, waiting gloomily and apprehensively for the opening bell to ring.

HAGGARD'S NEW STORY

H. Rider Haggard's new story,

Bobbie's Prayer

Naturally every congressman has
the brightest boy that ever lived, and one extraordinary child had been taught to incorporate dutifully in his prayer a sentence expressing the desire of his heart.

One day Bobbie insisted that prayers were no good. A baby brother had arrived in the home, and an effort was made to impress Bobbie with the delight he should feel in having a little playmate, who perhaps was brought in response to his petitions.
"Naw," exclaimed Bobbie in supreme disgust, "I been praying for a dog that could run around and follow me and bark and do something
—not a red baby that squalls."—Na-

His Job

"You have been with your firm a long time?" said a man to his old schoolfellow.

"Yes," answered his friend, with a patient expression of countenance.
"What's your position?"

"I am an employee."

"Yes, but what do you do?"

"Well, I am a doer and the others are tellers. It's like this: When the guy-nor wants something done he tells the cashier, and the cashier tells the bookkeeper, and the bookkeeper tells the assistant bookkeeper, and the assistant bookkeeper tells the chief clerk and the chief clerk tells me."

"And what then?"

"Well, I haven't anybody to tell,
so I have to do it."—Ladies' Home

SULTAN OF SULU HERE FOR A TIME

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Hadji Mohammed Jumalul Kiram (which was all of his name that he cared to bring with him) sultan of Sulu, is in New York's midst.

Wearing a black velvet turban with red velvet trimmings, a black sack suit and a white shirt, Hadji came smilingly down the gangplank of the American liner St. Louis and fell into the waiting arms of Major Hugh L. Scott, Fourteenth United

CERTAINLY ENDS STOMACH MISERY

Headache, Sourness, Heartburn, Gas and Indigestion Vanish and you feel fine in five minutes

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach, if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Bloating, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

States cavalry, former governor of Sulu, who has promised to show the sultan some of the sights of this country with smoked glasses barred.

In the sultan's suite, for he is still entitled to have a suite notwithstanding that he was ejected out of about everything he used to have by the enforced transfer of his beloved archipelago to the United States where his brother, Datto Raja Muda Mualliwasi, their apparent to whatever is left when Hadji gets through; Hadji Butu, lord high polisher of the imperial slippers; Hadji Mohammed Panglima Mullam (they grow 'em long over in Sulu), premier excelsior wardman of Jolo; Hadji Sumpenele, grand seigneur of the imperial dogmat, and a bunch of lesser blacks, or browns, or whatever they are. Most of them came steerage as they could not go first class. But even the steerage had something on the thatched huts they left behind and there was no complaining.

Then, too, there was J. Werble, the interpreter, an ex-private in the Seventeenth Infantry, who liked Sulu and Sulus so much that when his term of enlistment ended he stayed behind.

Sells His Pearls Two fictions regarding Hadji were cleared up at the very outset. He did not have $500,000 worth of home grown pearls in his left trouser pocket, or any other pocket, and he has not come over here for an American wife. When the sultan sailed on June 12 he had a number 7 1/2 derby hat filled with pearls which he began converting into coin of the various realms through which he traveled. In Naples he let go of one for $35,000 and in Paris he sold the pick of his collection for $60,-

All told the sultan cleaned up nearly $300,000 and they do say that some of his sales exhibited a shrewdness that clearly qualifies Hadji to engage in the "three ball" business. He has a few jewels with him, it is true, including a diamond on the little finger. Some of these jewels Hadji is going to give away as souvenirs provided the high cost of living does not use up what's left of the $300,000. Should this happen, Hadji will make another exchange of pearls for pesos.

No American Wife As to an American wife, there's absolutely nothing doing. Werble explains that once upon a time when he was a real, for sure sultan, Hadji had four wives but by various processes he reduced the number to just one, with whom he still lives without even the additional spice of an occasional affinity.

Hadji overheard the interviewers question concerning his matrimonial affairs and he mustered up what little English he knew and exclaimed: "No good, fighting all time. One wife; no more."

Among the first persons regarding whom the sultan inquired were President Taft, whom he knew when Taft was governor of the Philippines, and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, who as Miss Alice Roosevelt, toured the Philippines, met the sultan—whisper it low—won the little fellow's heart. He will meet Taft while here.

A Sultan Cocktail When told that George Ade had written a comic opera called "the Sultan of Sulu," Hadji expressed a desire to see it and was disappointed when told that it was no longer being played. He was told, however, that Ade's "Sultan of Sulu" cocktail can still be made and he may try one notwithstanding the fact that a whiskbroom goes with every one to clean floor space for the resulting fit.

Hadji's trip is not all for pleasure and while here he will try to get a number of American school teachers and Filipinos who have been educated in this country to go to the islands and aid in the uplift of his people. He's really a serious minded sultan on this subject.

The sultan and his suite were loaded into taxicabs and whisked off to the Hotel Astor. Their amazement at the size of New York buildings and the roar of traffic was eloquently expressed in the almost frightened silence they preserved as they gazed from the taxicabs. When Hadji saw the Metropolitan tower, 46 stories high, he pointed to it.

"One step in heaven," was his impressive comment.

DR. RUCKER BACK IN ARMY SERVICE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 26.—It became known today that Dr. William Colby Rucker, commissioner of Milwaukee, who resigned when charges were made against him by Catherine Hasdorf, a domestic, has been re-instated by Surgeon General Wyman of the United States public health and marine hospital service, from which he was given leave of absence to accept the position in Milwaukee. Dr. Rucker has been in Washington for the past week.

The dismissal of the charge against him Saturday, it is believed, will not induce Rucker to return here and be re-instated in the position of health officer. Rucker resigned that position soon after the charges were made and was to have been reinstated by a special council of the socialist government today.

The socialists today again reiterated that the case had been pushed against Rucker for political reasons.

OLD RACER ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION

BEN KERSCHER AND HIS OLD TIME DARRACQ

CHICAGO.—A relic of the past which continues to surprise those interested in the automobile race game is the 1905 model of the Darracq, driven by Ben Kerscher. It carries off the winnings in 1910 as consistently as the latest models. Were this car still being put out the efforts of Kerscher would appear like the cleverest press agent material. The fact that this is an extinct variety puts his work on the track in a class by itself.

John L. Peak, of Kansas City, former United States minister to Switzerland, died of a complication of diseases here.

CANADIAN FIGHT TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Harry Gilmore, a Chicago fight promoter, known the country over, has assumed active management of the Red River club, Winnipeg, and it is predicted that the Manitoba town will be the scenes of some classy fighting. Gilmore starts off with an international event tonight when Jack White, Chicago lightweight, and Eddie Carsey, a British man-o-war's man, will meet. White is said to be the most likely man to defeat Champion Atell and Carsey poses with a good record. The fight is for 15 rounds at 122 pounds at 10 o'clock.

PACKEY M'FARLAND BELOW THE WEIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—When he stepped on the scales today, Packey MacFarland, who is to meet "Fighting Dick" Hyland at the Falmouth Athletic club tomorrow, failed to move the beam at 135 pounds, the limit agreed upon. MacFarland declared the only thing that had worried him was the chance that he might not be able to make the weight. He believes he will be able to win on a knock-out. Hyland, however, is equally as optimistic. "I expect to win by rushing MacFarland off his feet," he said today. "He may stand me off for a few rounds, but I do not believe he is going to be able to keep it up after I land a few hard ones on his mid-section."

"KID M'COY" IN BOAT EXPLOSION

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Norman Selby, known in the prize ring and cafe business as "Kid McCoy," narrowly escaped death from fire, explosion and drowning in the North river early today, when the naphtha launch "Kid McCoy," owned by Ernest Tribelhorn, a real estate man, was totally destroyed. McCoy was saved from death through the prowess of Frank George, who was his only companion in the little vessel when it went down. George swam ashore from the burning boat and rowed back with a boat in time to save McCoy, who was weakening fast.

McCoy, Tribelhorn and George, together with a number of friends, had been on a long sail Sunday. When they anchored off 181st street McCoy and George were tired and decided to sleep on board. At 2:30 McCoy attempted to prepare a chafing dish feast. The alcohol lamp exploded and the boat was soon a mass of flames.

McCoy could not swim a stroke. When the flames came close, George leaped overboard and swam for shore, yelling to McCoy to hold on to the side. "I'll get a boat and come back for you," he yelled. McCoy did as told and was losing strength from the heat exposure when George drew him out with a rowboat and took him out of the river.

KEENE TRIES AVIATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Harry Keene failed to do more than fracture a bone, temporarily lose the use of eye, fracture his skull, thereby inducing brain fever, from which recovered with difficulty, Fozz Keene, the millionaire sportsman, has abandoned such molly-coddle games as automobile racing, riding to hounds, polo, motorboat and steeple chase racing, for aviation. Provided Keene is still in condition to appear in public after several trials of the monoplane and plane which are now on their way from France, where he purchased them from Farman, Keene will fly in the Belmont park next month.

REV. J. L. PANZLAU LEAVES LA CROSSE

Popular Pastor Is Transferred to Charles City, Iowa, by the Conference Last Night

REV. KLAUS WILL RETURN

Local Pastor Desired Pulpit in Milwaukee, but the Bishop Changed the Plans

Rev. J. L. Panzlau, for six years pastor of the First German M. E. church, was last night transferred from his church here to Charles City, Iowa, by the action of the Northwest conference, which closed there last night. By the same appointments Rev. W. H. Klaus, pastor of the local church, twelve or fifteen years ago, now located at Charles City, will return to the La Crosse pulpit.

Mr. Panzlau, it is understood, had a call from a Milwaukee church and desired to go to the Cream City, but Bishop Neely changed the plans and sent him to Charles City.

During his ministry here Rev. Panzlau has been very effective in the pulpit and has made strong efforts in the young people's branch of the work. He has been an active and energetic worker, and his removal will be the cause of regret among his many friends. During his service here a handsome new pipe organ has been installed in the church.

Rev. Panzlau will preach his farewell sermon here next Sunday, leaving during the following week for his new post.

Rev. Panzlau came to La Crosse from Plattville, and has been considered a very effective worker while in La Crosse.

CONSERVATION FIGHT ON AT PUEBLO

PUEBLO, Col., Sept. 26.—When the National Irrigation congress opened its convention this afternoon, the stage was set for the renewal of the fight between the advocates of federal and state control of national resources that rent the conservation congress at St. Paul a few weeks ago. A large number of notable men are here to participate in the debate, which is expected tonight. Although generally the delegates are talking and endeavoring to get the state's righters and federal control men together on some kind of a compromise, there is a feeling that the fight will go on. Elephant Butte or Engleman dam in New Mexico is expected to be the bone of contention in this congress. The Colorado delegation strongly favors state control of reclamation projects, wishes to go on record in the resolutions as disparaging the plans of federal reclamation service in this project. The Coloradoans insist that this $9,000,000 project is being built for the benefit of New Mexico.

They insist that the work will completely tie up the development of the San Luis valley.

EVANS SAYS COAST MUST BE PROTECTED

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—The need of more defense for this coast, both warships and land batteries and largely augmented forces of enlisted men, was emphasized by "Fighting Bob" Evans at a recent luncheon of the Portland Press club. Rear Admiral Evans followed his usual habit of plain speaking and said:

"Our warships are among the finest built, and you could stack them up in the face of an enemy, press the button and the result would be all right. But what I wish to speak of is the total lack of defense of the Pacific coast. The people of this western shore are living in peace and comfort because of the friendly disposition of their neighbors. If your neighbors should turn upon you, you would be like a jelly fish at their hands and a poor jelly fish at that."

"You need 16 battleships on the Pacific coast, with all their trimmings, which means cruisers, ammunition ships, torpedo boats, colliers and men to man them. You have the men but you will have to train them. A man fights on his stomach. A seask fighter is not worth a pinch of salt. So you must have these men ready for use in time of war. The Pacific coast needs a floating defense."

"Everything is peaceful now but there is always the danger of—I won't say the 'yellow peril,' but to be impartial, let us say the green peril. Protest your coast, just as the Atlantic coast is protected."

Rear Admiral Evans has become interested in the coast oil industry since retiring from the navy, and he proposes to spend most of his time in this part of the country in future.

Chavez's condition was much worse today, and it is now feared that he will not recover.

Chavez is suffering from three fractures of his legs, several contusions and internal injuries. For his feat in crossing the Alps even though he did not meet the requirements of a flight from Brieg to Milan, the Italian aviation society gave him $10,000, one-half of the prize.

BAD BLOOD OFTEN INHERITED

Bad blood does not always come as the result of careless living, or indiscretions; it is a condition frequently inherited. Normal, healthy blood contains millions of tiny red corpuscles, which are the vitalizing and nourishing element of the circulation, their office being to provide every portion of the system with its necessary strength and nutriment. In weak, impure blood these corpuscles are lacking in numbers, and therefore the blood is not able to supply the proper amount of nourishment to the body. Bad blood manifests itself in many ways. With some it takes the form of skin diseases and eruptions, others become bilious and malarious, with sallow complexions, torpid liver, etc. Bad blood produces Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula and like troubles. Nothing is equal to S. S. S. as a remedy for bad blood; it is the greatest of all blood purifiers.

INSURGENTS WIN OREGON PRIMARY

Majority of Candidates
will Be Pledged to Support Election Choice
for Senator

ARE EVEN ON CONGRESSMEN

Multnomah County's Great
Plurality for Progressives Causes the Victory

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 26.—A majority of the republican candidates for the legislature are pledged to vote for that candidate for the United States senate who received the largest popular vote at the November elections, regardless of the political affiliations of the candidate, according to returns received here from all over the state today. This means a sweeping victory for the Statement No. 1 or insurgent faction of the party over the Anti-Statement men or standpats.

The victory of the insurgents was largely contributed to by Multnomah county in which Portland is located which gave the insurgents an overwhelming plurality. Throughout the rest of the state the insurgents also won a victory, though it was not so sweeping. In the two congressional districts, the insurgents got an even break. Their candidate in the Second district, A. W. Lafferty was nominated by about 2,000 plurality, while the insurgents' candidate in the First district, B. F. Mulkey, was overwhelmed by W. C. Hawley, standpat incumbent.

FRY SHOE SALE TO SHOW BIG BARGAINS

A shoe sale that offers unprecedented bargains, and that will last only until it has netted enough money to meet some limited obligations that, owing to the failure of a large Minneapolis firm, must be met at once, will be opened sometime this week by the Fry Shoe company. The significance of the incident is that people here may get the better of the "high cost of living" so far as the shoe item is concerned, by promptly taking advantage of the sale, which will be terminated the moment the necessary funds are realized.

The Fry Shoe company enjoys an enviable reputation both as to class of goods and business integrity. It is the fortune of the public that it was caught with an overstock of the finest things in shoe leather and forced, by the Minneapolis failure, to realize on part of this stock. The demand for quick action has resulted in the quotation of prices so low as to induce buyers not only to purchase for the present but to anticipate future needs by laying in a stock of staple footwear. The date of the opening of the sale will be announced tomorrow.

Huffstutler's freak horse, hog, calf and goose; Silvie Ferretti with Harry Cutler's athletic exhibition; Charles F. Kissinger's vaudeville show, the fat boy and the majestic theater program, including the trained seals and sea lions. The human roulette wheel and the merry-go-round are also attractions that will amuse the children.

Fast Race Horses
All the events in the speed department are well filled and some fast time is expected. The rain of the past few days has packed the track and with the dragging and rolling that has been done since Saturday it is in excellent condition. Many fast horses are here and the track record may be lowered by some of them.

HYPNOTIZED BY ACTOR FROM STAGE

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Mrs. Gaynor Green, who states she is the wife of a wealthy New York real estate man, claims to have been hypnotized in one of the theatres here last night. Mrs. Green was discovered at an early hour this morning by a night watchman, who, while making his rounds through the theatre, saw the unconscious woman seated in one of the chairs. Mrs. Green did not remember anything after the middle of the first act. She stated there was something about the eyes of one of the actors, which caused her to lose consciousness.

ANDERSON KNEW NO SILVER SPOON

Successor to James A. Tawney Began "Shifting for Himself" at the Age of 12 Years

WON WAY THROUGH SCHOOL

Encountered Labor and Privations in Struggle for Education—Went to War at 18 Years

(Special Correspondent)

"Anderson laid violent hands on opportunity." That was the way a newspaper article expressed it in referring to the defeat in the recent primary of Congressman James A. Tawney by Sydney Anderson of Lanesboro. Had the writer substituted "determined" for "violent," no words could have more accurately suggested the characteristics of the congressional nominee of the First Minnesota district. Young, vigorous, wide-awake, up to the minute, physically and morally courageous, patriotic, intellectual, Mr. Anderson is just the kind of man who could be counted upon to seize opportunity and make the most of it.

Much has been written about Mr. Anderson having gone into the contest for the nomination to "get some valuable free advertising." Nothing could have been more false or misleading. His friends know him as an earnest progressive republican. When first approached to lead the insurgents' forces, he put the suggestion aside, but repeated importunities led him to give it serious consideration. He studied the situation in the district; he felt that it was imperative that the fight be made for progressive principles in order to save the party, and he finally consented to make the run. Loyalty to principle, led him into the strenuous campaign which resulted in his nomination on Sept. 20. The war of ballots appealed as much to his patriotism as did the call to arms in 1898 when he, a high school boy of 18 years, enlisted to serve his country through the Spanish American war.

Only 30 Years Old
The congressman-elect (it is fair to call him that for the Old First is a rock-ribbed republican district) will be one of the youngest men who ever entered the halls of congress. He is 30 years old, but notwithstanding his comparative youth he has been a student in the school of experience. He has had no rosy path to travel. Rather he has been forced into a close acquaintance with the serious side of life.

Poor Farmer's Son
Mr. Anderson was born on a farm in Goodyear county, Minnesota, on Sept. 17, 1880, of Scandinavian parentage. His father, while not poverty stricken, was not overburdened with this world's goods, and at the age of twelve the son had to shift for himself. During the summer months he worked on the farms in the neighborhood, but the winter months found him in the public schools at Zumbrota, pursuing his studies diligently. He worked his own way through the high school, the Iowa Law school of Highland Park college at Des Moines and the Minnesota State university. Many is the time he had to pull in his belt a notch or two when going to classes, and many Goodyear county farmers remember the lad who was such a faithful worker but who had such a tremendous appetite. During his "vacation" in the harvest fields the future congressman-to-be was putting on fat for the winter months.

Joins the Militia
At sixteen years of age he had joined the Zumbrota militia, and when the war with Spain broke out he enlisted after a tearful interview with his invalid mother, whose consent he sought. Thus this eighteen-year-old boy became a non-commissioned officer of Company D, 13th Minnesota Volunteer Infantry.

Marries in School
After the war young Anderson finished his course in the Zumbrota high school. In 1901, while yet a student of the Minnesota State university, he was married to Miss Florence Douglas. They have two children, a boy and a girl.

Goes to Lanesboro
In the spring of 1905 Mr. Anderson located in Lanesboro, Fillmore county, opening up a law office. His charming personality, his capacity for hard work and his interest in local affairs soon won him friends. In spite of his youth he quickly obtained recognition as a legal light of the first rank and his law practice steadily increased. It was soon found that he was a fluent and forceful public speaker, a fact to which thousands of the people in the First District awake in the campaign just closed. He is a

"William" Smith, who Victimized Doerflinger Company, Caught on the North Side

William Penel, alias William Smith, who at 10 o'clock this morning passed a worthless check on the Doerflinger Co. for $10.00 was captured on the North side by the police shortly after noon today. Penel carried cards bearing the inscription "William Smith, United States Secret Service" and after flashing this, would pass the check. At the time of his capture he was in Bangsberg's tailor shop on the North side being measured for a suit and in his pocket was found a "phony" check which he evidently intended passing on Bangsberg. The arrest was made by Officers Wendling, Taylor, and Velle with the assistance of Chief Webster and much credit is due the force for the record breaking time made in effecting his capture. The checks were drawn on the bank of Necedah, Wis.

CLOTHING TEAM TAKES A GAME

Which baseball team will get the title of city champions?

This is a question that is now being discussed by the baseball fans of La Crosse since Sunday's game which was one of the best amateur contests ever seen on the local diamond. The La Crosse Clothing company and the La Crosse Rubber Mills company began a championship series a week ago when the latter won by a score of 2 to 1. In yesterday's game the Clothing company won by a score of 3 to 0. One more game is to be played next Sunday when the championship will be decided and it is expected that a large crowd will be out to witness the battle.

In yesterday's game both teams played well and over 500 fans saw them fight for honors. The Clothing company team made a trifle the best showing yesterday, although the fielding and the pitching on the part of the opponents was excellent. Nelson, the Clothing team catcher, made a hit with the spectators in throwing to second, throwing out every one who attempted to steal the base.

SCHRANK OPENS FINE NEW CAFE

Joseph Schrank Sunday night opened his fine new cafe above his restaurant on Main street and from early evening until late at night the establishment was thronged with an admiring crowd.

The stairway is off of Main street and at its top is a daintily arranged room about which are arranged rosewood tables. Floral decorations were profuse and most beautiful at the opening last night.

Four rooms have been equipped with all devices of the modern cafe, giving to La Crosse a metropolitan establishment the like of which has never before been seen here.

Andre's orchestra furnished the music last night and all who visited the cafe pronounced it one of the coziest and most modern in western Wisconsin.

The prediction is freely made among those who have heard him that he will be one day be counted among the great orators of Congress.

Mr. Anderson's standing in his home county, Fillmore, is suggested by the fact that he received 2,464 votes there to 1473 for his opponent. In this county there were but 29 democratic votes cast in the primary as compared with 49 votes two years ago.

TAG DAY PROVES TO BE A SUCCESS

Announcement Made that $1,458.91 was Raised for a Visiting Nurse

"Tag day" was a great success and the Humane society, under whose auspices the campaign was conducted, is greatly pleased with the liberal contributions made by citizens who believe in starting a plan for the employment of a visiting nurse. The total amount raised by the ladies who worked all day Saturday, is $1,458.91, according to the report made by R. C. Whelpley, who is acting treasurer for the fund. Of this amount $1,201.68 was raised on the south side and $257.23 on the north side.

Mr. Whelpley said today that in counting the money turned in by the workers he found $10 in pennies, $120 in nickels, $300 in dimes, 120 silver dollars, one $10 bill, two checks for $25, a dozen $5 bills and the balance was in half dollars and quarters. From this it will be seen that many small contributions were made, for which the society is very thankful. The fund represents all classes of people from the laboring man to the capitalist. All seemed to be interested in the work and contributed according to what he believed he could afford.

E. S. Hebbard, secretary of the Humane society, said that the society is very much pleased with the liberal response on the part of the people of La Crosse. He said that this fund will be used only for the employment of a visiting nurse and the fight against tuberculosis.

NURSE CONFESSES BURIAL OF GIRL

Tells How Dr. Clark Cut Off Miss Swan's Feet and Secretly Buried the Body

PHYSICIAN RUSHES FROM HER

When Confronted with the Helper's Confession He Tries to Escape in Jail Corridor

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Despite the statement made to the police by Marie Messerschmidt, a nurse, admitting that she had knowledge of an operation performed by Dr. George Grant upon Eva Swan, whose body was found buried under a vacant house here Friday, Dr. Grant today refused to make any further statement regarding the case.

Miss Messerschmidt's declaration that "Robert Thompson, known as Dr. Grant," after the girl's death, cut off the girl's feet and buried the body in a house on Eureka street, after stuffing the corpse in a trunk, is regarded as the strongest evidence yet obtained by the police. Dr. Grant is plainly effected by the nurse's testimony, but has not broken down or cast any light on the girl's death.

According to the nurse, the girl was taken to Grant's office, where an operation was performed on her April 16 last. Paul Parker, an old acquaintance of the girl, visited her after the operation. Miss Swan, says the nurse, resumed her regular work immediately, but suffered a relapse and was placed in a small private hospital Grant maintained.

Doctor Faces Nurse

Miss Messerschmidt attended the girl until the latter died on April 30. The latter asserts that the girl was found dead in bed one morning and that Dr. Grant, in order to get rid of the corpse, stuffed it into a trunk and took it to the Eureka street house, where he buried it, after spending the night there awaiting a favorable opportunity to get rid of the body without being seen. Dr. Grant was brought face to face with her statement. He attempted to escape, running down the corridor of the jail, but was overpowered. Paul Parker is under arrest but denies responsibility for Miss Swan's condition.

The manager of the department became suspicious of the check when he saw it and turned it over to the police, giving a description of the man who presented it. It is thought to be a forgery.

If This is a Biscuit

What is This—

ANSWER

One—the flat, sad, sickly looking one—was baked with poor baking powder; possibly the high-priced kind—possibly the cheap, big can kind. It denotes a lack of leavening gas, or an uneven distribution of same—or both. The other—the large, light, fluffy one—was prepared with Calumet Baking Powder, and denotes the never-failing, delicious baking that always results from its use.

Calumet does not cost as much as the high price baking powder, but it is very much superior in every way—it is purer—more reliable—more healthful. Here are the reasons:

All baking powders undergo a chemical change in the process of baking. You do not take it into the stomach in the same form as it is in the can. For example: When you use Cream of Tartar Baking Powder you get Rochelle Salts in your food, because the Cream of Tartar during this reaction turns into Rochelle Salts. This, as you know, is a drug, and should be taken only under doctor's orders.

Calumet is so carefully and scientifically prepared that the neutralization of the ingredients is absolutely perfect.

That it is absolutely pure and of highest quality is proven by the fact that

DR. EVANS WANTS A HEALTH PLANK

Says it Is Time for State to Take Stand on Conservation of Public Health

TOM MORRIS TO PROPOSE IT

Will Introduce Measure to Provide for Inspection in the Public Schools

Claiming that it is time for the state to take a stand on the conservation of public health, Dr. Edward E. Evans, La Crosse, has given Senator Thomas Morris material for a plank which he requests be inserted in the platform at the convention to be held in Madison tomorrow.

Dr. Evans argues that while the law compels the citizen to send his children to school there is no provision made to safeguard him against contracting disease.

The law, as proposed by Dr. Evans provides for the appointment of health inspectors for the public schools and a system to do away with the necessity of children associating with others affected by disease that may be contracted.

REPORT OUT ON COTTON CENSUS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—A report issued by the census bureau today shows that the total supply of cotton in the United States for the year ended Aug. 31, 1916, was 3,326,927 bales less than for the preceding year. The total for 1915 was 11,985,958.

In the last year 6,339,028 bales were exported, while in the preceding year more than eight million were exported. The consumption in the United States was nearly a million greater for 1909 than for 1910 which is shown as 4,077,127.

The total number of bales held in the United States Aug. 31, 1916, was shown as 939,803, and for the preceding year as 1,483,585. Practically the same number of spindles were operated during the two years. The figures are all given in running bales, including linters.

SAYS MONEY LUST IS PURE INSANITY

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Members of the St. Marks Episcopal church are today wondering if Rev. Dr. William Wilson had in mind the now famous message, "Who's looney now?" in talking as his text for yesterday's sermon, "Who are Insane?" and picturing Americans in the clutch of money-mania and finding recreation in degenerate luxury.

"Statistics show that the percentage of insanity is increasing far in excess of the increase in population," said Dr. Wilson. "Fanaticism and just plain foolishness sometimes are called insanity. But the insane man is the man whose way of living is all wrong, but who thinks it is all right."

"In this country, we have the insane man at his worst. The American has the money-insanity and the more of the world's goods he accrues the more there is a slackening of spiritual strength."

SEEK MURDERER OF YOUNG GIRL

GODERICH, Ont., Sept. 26.—Citizens and farmers are today aiding the provincial police in a determined search for the murderer of Elizabeth Anderson, 16, whose mutilated body was found in the cellar of a deserted house on the outskirts of town late yesterday. The girl's throat had been cut from ear to ear, the wound having the appearance of having been made with an axe. The only clue to the girl's disappearance a few hours before her body was found is the statement that she was seen talking to a strange man on the street yesterday. Her father was among the party of searchers who found the body.

OUTLOOK FOR "U" IS MORE HOPEFUL

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—In spite of the dismal football outlook that confronts Coach Barry and the students of the University of Wisconsin this fall, the developments of the last week may be taken as a hopeful sign of better days ahead for Wisconsin athletics.

In the first place, it appears as though there had been a sudden awakening to the fact that athletics are of some use and that it costs money to stage attractions. The athletic council of the university has authorized the expenditure of $1,000 for football this fall and it looks as though the varsity team would be decorated out in necessities at least. Trainer Bernstein has been allowed to purchase twenty blankets for the members of the varsity squad. It's years since anything like that has been done.

The training quarters will be fixed up at Camp Randall, so that the men will not be obliged to risk the omnipresent pneumonia germ on the way back to the gymnasium after a brisk practice. Trainer Bernstein has a lot of tools for all aches and the team is promist conditioning, if nothing else. The council has also voted to allow an expenditure of $200 for an assistant coach for Barry. It is not known who will get the position as yet.

It's a lead pipe cinch, that the Bader team of the present season will not cut a wide swath in the championship fight unless it kicks over all pre-season traces. If it makes a good showing, the season will be regarded as successful, for no previous captain or coach ever faced a more disappointing outlook than Dean Barry, and the student body is aware of the fact.

The liquid glance of the summer girl is apt to become an icy stare in winter.

ALL EYES CENTERED ON EASTERN GAMES

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A definite line on the possibilities of the new football rules is looked for this week when Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Dartmouth, Brown, West Point, Annapolis and Cornell play their first games of the season.

Coaches refuse to accept the defeat of Pennsylvania by Ursinus Saturday as indicating that the 1916 rules have weakened the game or placed an undue premium on the lighter teams. They say that Pennsylvania's defeat was merely one of the fortunes of the game.

Saturday's games proved one thing conclusively; the new game will be more open than the old, which, it is believed, will make it much more interesting from a spectator's standpoint. With the open game, comes the greater chance for unexpected and startling plays and a degree of uncertainty that will undoubtedly make football more of a "popular" sport than it has ever been.

SAYS MURPHY IS WRONG CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—President Ban Johnson of the American League declared today that it is President Murphy, of the Cubs, who is holding back the world's championship series. He asserted that unless the games are started before Oct. 16, there may be no championship series.

PRESIDENT GETS FAMOUS COW SOON

Senator Stephenson's Gift to Taft Leaves for the White House October 15

KENOSHA, Wis., Sept. 26.—Jim Torrey, an eighth cousin of President Taft, and more nearly related to Aunt Della Torrey, who makes the apple pies and entertains the president at Thanksgiving dinner each year, will lead a famous cow into the White House barnyard in Washington on Oct. 15, and present her to President Taft with the compliments of Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin.

Senator Stephenson has presented to President Taft Pauline Wayne, a 4-year-old pure-bred Holstein, and a member of the great Wayne family of Holsteins. She will take the place of "Mooley," the pet cow of the Taft family, which died last spring.

Jim Torrey, who manages the fancy stock farm of Senator Stephenson in the town of Somers, near Kenosha, Wis., is building a portable stable for Pauline Wayne, in which she will be shipped by express to the capital.

Pauline tips the scales at 1,500 pounds, can produce twenty-five pounds of butter per week, and is worth about $2,500, as the prices of high grade cattle go. She was raised on the 880-acre farm of Senator Stephenson and is one of herd of 240 Holsteins and Guernseys.

EASY TO FIND LAWS ON ANY SUBJECT

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—Somewhere about the first of next year any citizen of Wisconsin of average intelligence will be able if he comes to Madison, to find out just what is the law on any subject without being compelled to go through a maze of lawbooks or a labyrinth of chapters, sections, sub-sections, etc. This because under the act of the last legislature the office of revisor of the statutes was made virtually a permanent one, and one of the first things being accomplished in this new office is the making of a "loose-leaf" ledger which will contain all of the laws in force, as well as another set of similar volumes containing laws which have been repealed.

Former Judge Lyman J. Nash, the revisor, and his assistant, Arthur F. Beltz, are now at work on the revision of the statutes, and the compilation of the loose-leaf system is practically in the hands of Mr. Beltz. "When this loose-leaf system is finished," said Mr. Nash, "I am inclined to think the lawyers of the state and the judges, as well as members of the legislature, will wonder how they ever got along without it."

STUDENTS FLOCK TO UNIVERSITY

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—Registration at the University of Wisconsin began today and will last three days. The enrollment at the end of the year will exceed the 4,000 mark. It was only a few short of this number last year. About 1,500 are women.

A general raise in the cost of living faces the students this fall. Students

CADETS SLIGHT THEIR INSTRUCTOR

Whole Corps Is Under Arrest and Shake-up Promised for Administering Silent Affront

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 26.—With the entire cadet corps of the United States military academy under close arrest for administering the "silent" affront to Capt. Rufus Longan, instructor in tactics, a military board of inquiry is today investigating the mystery surrounding the cadets' action. It is probable that no decision will be reached before Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. In any event the finding of the board will not be made public until the return to West Point of Major General Thomas H. Barry, superintendent of the academy, who is expected tomorrow. Lieut. Col. Frederick W. Sibley, commandant of cadets, who is in charge during General Barry's absence, declared today that he would keep the corps under arrest until the findings of the board had been delivered to him and then passed upon by Gen. Barry. Col. Sibley declined to admit or deny that the military authorities at the academy had discovered the cause of the cadets' antagonism toward Capt. Longan. It is understood, however, that the cadets are sticking to their original statement that they had

"formed a dislike for this officer." Privileges Withdrawn

Until the board of inquiry discloses its findings and Gen. Barry prescribes the punishment to be meted out, the cadets will remain under arrest in quarters. This means that all privileges and liberties have been revoked and that the routine of studies will go on, the cadets remaining in their rooms during all other times.

The trouble started at supper Saturday night continued through breakfast, Sunday morning.

There are forty tables in the Great Memorial mess hall, each presided over by two members of the first or senior class. Cadets may not begin eating until the first class man nods to them. The cadets marched into the mess hall Saturday night and took their accustomed places.

The Silent Affront

Discipline is lacking in the mess room, though the etiquette is severe. The cadets were laughing and talking until Capt. Longan, as officer of the day, entered the hall. Instantly knives and forks were dropped and the hum of conversation ceased. Cadets sat as silent as wooden Indians with arms folded and refused to speak or eat. Sunday morning the cadets marched to the breakfast hall as usual, but still maintained the "silence" toward Capt. Longan.

Among the first classmen, upon whom the severest discipline will probably be visited, are Thomas Jackson Christian of Georgia, the only grandson of "Stonewall" Jackson, William E. Lared, son of West Point's famous drawing instructor, Alexander Surles, a noted athlete, and Jose March Duplat, of a wealthy Venezuelan family, who was admitted to the academy as a courtesy.

Punishment to be Severe

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—Major Gen. Barry, commandant of the military academy at West Point held a long conference with President Taft this morning in regard to the action he will take in disciplining the entire cadet corps for "silencing" Capt. Longan. No official announcement was made but it was understood here that neither the president nor Barry favored court martialing or dismissing the men engaged in the movement. More rigid methods will be taken however, and severe penalties are to be inflicted. It is expected. Both the president and Barry look upon the incident as a serious matter, and demanding positive and immediate action.

Fern Grace, 5 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Euler, 1716 South Twelfth street, died at 8:20 Saturday evening at the home of her parents. The funeral was held at 2:30 this afternoon from the residence and interment was made in Oak Grove cemetery. Mrs. Theodore Manstedt was in charge of the arrangements.

TUBBY BYRNE SERIOUSLY HURT

Former Pride of the High School Wrenches Knee
when Tackled in Game
Saturday

Although they put up what is said to be the hardest fight ever made by an alumni team, the "old boys" of the La Crosse high school Saturday afternoon were totally whipped by the high school in a game of football at League park. The score was 12 to 0.

Greater knowledge of the new rules and how to avoid penalties was largely responsible for the victory of the year's team, although many maintain that had Byrne not been hurt in the first quarter of the second half there would have been a far different story to tell.

Byrne, who was the idol of the team three years ago, was tackled by Bellerue while making an end run and thrown to the ground with great force. The impact of the fall was on his knee and he was taken home in an auto. Just how serious the young man's injuries are has not been ascertained.

For the first two quarters it was merely a struggle back and forth across the field, neither side having advantage. The high school showed superior knowledge of the use of the forward pass and this was demonstrated when Robert Ray seized the ball on a forward pass and tore off ninety yards for a touchdown. His excellent boot work added another point to the score, the ball sailing squarely between the posts.

Shortly after this Captain Shirley grabbed an opportunity to tear through a hole made for him at right tackle, and when he stopped running it was to place the ball squarely between the goal posts. Another point was kicked by Ray.

Pierce, the big fellow who may this year play center with the university of Wisconsin, was in the university of Wisconsin, but previous arrangements made it impossible for him to carry the ball. That he would have helped turn the tide in favor of the Alumni is granted by all who watched his clever work.

High school—Center, Weimar, Millington; left guard, Hayes, Bove; right guard, Chamberlain, Casberg; right tackle—Bellerue, Spelum; left tackle—Keeler, Simpson; right end, Ray, Dickens; left end, Stavrum, Hyde; quarter, Strum, Wiebrecht; left half, Byers, Ryan, Pettibone; fullback, Shirley, Erickson; right half—O. Strum, H. Hundredmark.

Most people have to give the undertaker a job in order to have decent things said about them.

Touchdown

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 26. Minnesota defeated Lawrence in the first game of the season on Saturday by a score of 34 to 0. The Gophers played all around their lighter opponents in the first half, the back field men going through the line and around the ends at will.

Both teams relied almost entirely upon straight football. Lawrence never looked dangerous. The work of McGovern and Rosenwald was conspicuous. Rosenwald's nose was broken in the second quarter.

First Touchdown Easy
Lawrence received the kickoff, but was forced to punt. Receiving the ball on its own forty-five yard line, Minnesota easily carried the ball down the field for a touchdown. Johnston, Stevens, McGovern and Rosenwald, carrying the ball off the tackles and around the ends for gains of five to twenty yards. Rosenwald went over for the touchdown. Morrill failed to kick goal.

Schneider of Lawrence injured his knee and was replaced by Smith. After the first three minutes' rest, McGovern carried the ball from the fifteen to the eight yard line, and two more rushes carried Johnston over the line. Morrill kicked goal.

On the next kickoff McGovern made a run of fifteen yards and Rosenwald tore down the field for twenty and thirty yards respectively, the latter run being for a touchdown. Morrill kicked goal.

Keep Up Good Work
The next goal was another procession, Erdahl, who replaced Johnston, helping McGovern and Rosenwald in carrying the ball to the five yard line. Stevens went over. Bromley intercepted a forward pass on the thirty-three yard line and ran for a touchdown. Morrill kicked goal.

Minnesota used several substitutes in the last half, and Lawrence took a big brace, the maroon and gold making only one more touchdown. Lineup:

Minnesota—L. E. Pickering; L. T. Walker; L. G. Bromley-Randall; C. Morrill; R. G. Robinson; R. T. Young; R. E. Frank-Brandt; J. McGovern; Johnson; L. H. Rosenwald-Van Strum; R. H. Stevens-Sargent; F. Johnston-Erdahl.

Lawrence—L. E. Bleeker; L. T. Schneider-Smith; L. G. Sampson; C. Roberts; R. G. Shelly; R. T. Bard; R. E. Hunt; Q. Johnson; L. H. Tippet; R. H. Patterson; F. E. Tippet-Williams.

Wisconsin Man's View
MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—Cecil Schreiber, former varsity quarterback, who was sent up to the Minnesota-Lawrence game to get a line on the merits of Coach Mark Catlin's proteges, says that the Badgers will have to work hard to defeat them.

"Very little of the new game was shown at Minneapolis on Saturday," said Schreiber on his return. "The CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Philadelphia and Chicago fought to an even break in the double header here on Sunday. The American league champions won the first in fourteen innings by a score of 3 to 1, beating Ed Walsh and breaking the locals' winning streak. In the second, which was stopped by darkness after five in-

Gophers were too heavy for Lawrence and their old style, line plugging and end skirting game worked well.

"Minnesota only tried the forward pass once and then it failed. There was considerable assisting of the runner, contrary to this year's rules, and the officials failed to penalize for it.

"The Gophers look about as good as a year ago with a beefy line and a fast backfield."

NO NOVELTIES IN 1910 FOOTBALL

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Coach Staggs of the University of Chicago, said today that he was not surprised at the lack of novelties in Saturday's football games. He declared the quarterbacks were every bit as important as before and he takes no stock in the belief that the quarterbacks will be insignificant in this year's game. He says a great many games will depend on the quarterbacks, as heretofore, but in other cases the quarterback will only be a halfback.

Coach Hammett, at Northwestern university, declared today that the hard work given his players last week would be but a marker to what they would get this week in preparation for their meet with Illinois at Wesleyan next Saturday.

Thus far Hammett has given his men but seven plays and until these are mastered, no more will be given.

MUST SELECT MAN TO COACH CREW

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—Two important matters relating to Wisconsin athletics will come up for consideration at the meeting of the executive committee of the board of regents on Monday.

One is the election of a successor to Ned Ten Eyck, who resigned as crew coach last spring, and the other the election of a manager of athletics.

It is not known who Athletic Director Ehler has recommended for appointment as head of the rowing department, but it is hinted that the appointee will be a prominent eastern oarsman of recent date and it is surmised by some who claim to be on the inside that he will be a disciple of Courtney. It is the intention of the director to have the new man come at once and begin work on the 1911 varsity crew.

OFFICIAL BASKET BALL GUIDE OUT

The Spalding Official Basketball Guide for the season of 1910-1911, more complete than ever before, has just been published. It contains about two hundred pages of matter of interest to every player and student of the game. The part of most interest to players is that containing the regular rules for the coming season which went into effect at September 1st. These rules were arranged by the Amateur Athletic Union Basketball committee, and contain changes which every player must familiarize himself with, as they will be in vogue for a year.

NEWMAN WILL NOT RETURN TO BROWNS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 26.—The St. Louis Browns will be deprived of the services of Pat Newman, first baseman, next year.

Pat's home is in this city, and he has arrived here for the winter. Falling out with O'Connor, as a result of his suspension, Newman says, he will quit organized baseball before he will ever don a uniform for St. Louis as long as O'Connor is "boss."

The big Texan, who played first base for Houston last year, says he was jobbed by the Browns' manager and suspended without cause.

LEACH TAKES A SECOND BRIDE

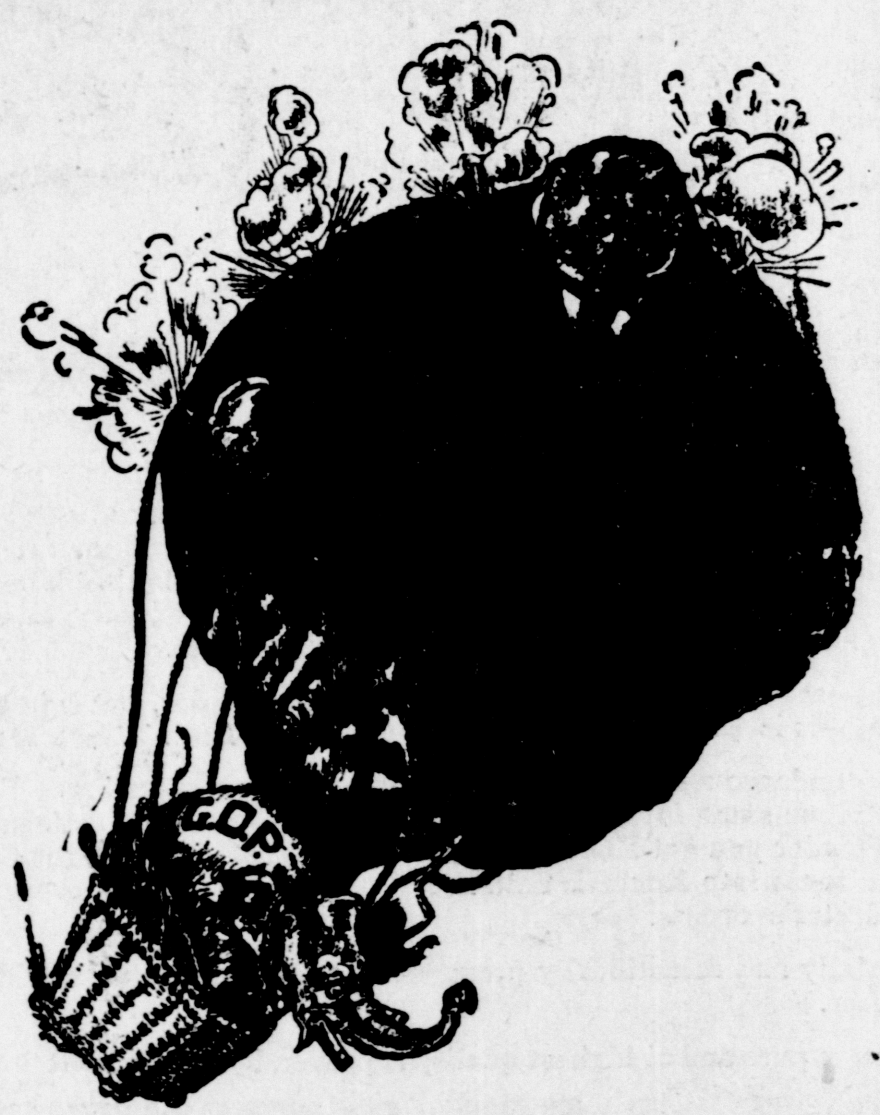

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 26.—Secrecy which has been unbroken since his wedding last Tuesday, was dispelled today when it became known that Tommy Leach, center fielder for the Pittsburgh Pirates, had taken unto himself a wife. Leach says the romance centered around Miss Marian Trask, of Brookline, Mass., who has for some time been known to the stage as Marie Blair.

This was Leach's second marriage. His first wife died several weeks ago.

PENN LOOSES GAME

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 26.—Ursinus college defeated the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday in the opening football game of the season, 8 to 5. The victor scored a field goal and touchdown, and Pennsylvania made a touchdown. Pennsylvania played poorly. The game was slow and lacked ginger because of the new rules. The restrictions against helping the runner was largely responsible for this.

Reputations are made on billposters' boards.

THE COLLAPSE OF THE TAFT ADMINISTRATION

A vigorous and informative article by Judson C. Welliver, whose "Is Roosevelt Inevitable" in "HAMPTON'S" for August, created more discussion than any article of the day. Mr. Welliver has the knack of telling precisely the things we want to know; the interesting "behind the scenes" which are unknown to the general public. This article fully explains why President Taft has failed and why there is so much talk about a third party. Everyone who is interested in the political history that is being made every day must read Mr. Welliver's exposition of the situation in

Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Wheat traders were in the usual dilemma this morning with conflicting news and no leaders to set the pace. The market, however, received some help from a strong turn in corn prices and from a much smaller movement of spring wheat to northwest markets.

These influences helped the prices up from 99 1/2 cents to $1.00 1/2 December and from $1.05 1/2 to $1.05 1/2 to $1.06 May. Liverpool was unchanged to 1 penny lower.

Corn traders had something new in the situation this morning and they acted on it very quickly and jumped prices. December was up from 51 1/2 to 51 3/4 cents and 51 1/2 cents, May from 54 1/2 to 54 1/2 cents and 54 1/2 to 55 cents. The early advance was well held, although the active buying was over in a few minutes. The jump was a cold weather and frost forecasts.

Oats prices scored fractional gains during the early trading. There was a general disposition shown on the part of shorts to cover and secure profits. Prices are low and farmers do not care to sell their cash grain at the present level. December oats opened at 34 1/2 to 34 1/2, sold to 34 1/2 to 34 1/2 cents, back to 34 1/2 to 34 1/2 cents. May opened at 37 1/2 to 37 1/2 cents, sold to 37 1/2 to 37 1/2 cents, back to 37 1/2 to 37 1/2 cents.

Provisions had an irregular tone. The nearby deliveries appeared congested and buying to cover shorts caused a moderate advance.

CRIPPEN GUILTY SAYS JURY TODAY

Verdict Occasions No Surprise and Case will Now Go to the High Court

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The coroner's jury which has been investigating the alleged murder of Belle Elmore Crippen, the actress, today returned a verdict declaring that Mrs. Crippen came to her death at the hands of her husband, Dr. H. H. Crippen, the American doctor-dentist.

The jury fixed the degree of the crime as murder.

The jury which retired at 4:40, reached its verdict despite a summing up by Coroner Schroeder that was unusually favorable to the accused. Schroeder reminded the jury that the evidence as to the identity and sex of the body supposed to be that of Mrs. Crippen was not at all conclusive and that no satisfactory evidence had been given to show even the cause of death.

He reviewed Dr. Pepper's testimony that he was unable to determine the sex of the body and that of Dr. Wilcock, who declared he found hyoscine in the body.

"It does not follow," Schroeder said, "because Crippen lied regarding his wife's death and fled to Canada that he killed her. Nor can we consider Miss Leneve's connection with the case after her flight."

The action of the jury occasioned no surprise.

BREAK IN BIG CONFERENCE IMPENDS

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 26.—The disruption of Rocky Mountain inter-collegiate conference is threatened, as the result of the action of Denver university in scheduling a game with the Marquette university, of Milwaukee, without first getting the permission of the other members of the conference. After the game had been scheduled and announced, the proposition was submitted to the other members of the conference and the representatives of Colorado college and the University of Colorado voted "No." Those voting "no" declare that two negative votes kill the proposition, but the Denver university athletic management denies this and is going ahead with the game anyway. Marquette, relying on its Denver game, has signed contracts with St. Mary's college, Kansas City and Creighton university, Omaha.

The action of those voting "No" is based on their assertion that Marquette has no faculty control of athletics nor eligibility rules. This is denied by Marquette representatives.

TOMAH PHYSICIAN LOCATES IN CITY

Dr. W. A. Henke of Tomah, Wis., has opened offices in the Majestic theater building of this city. After graduating in medicine he took a post graduate course in one of the hospitals of Chicago after which he located in Tomah. Two years later went abroad and studied in Vienna and Berlin. Returning to Tomah he established the Lusitania hospital, which has been a success under his management, the hospital being practically filled at all times with numerous operations performed and with a record of less than 1 per cent mortality. He enjoyed a large practice and only a larger city and better hospital facilities induced him to leave.

MANY EXHIBITS AT VIROQUA FAIR

VIROQUA, Wis., Sept. 26.—One of the most successful and enjoyable county fairs ever held here came to a close Friday. The weather was splendid during the first three days, but showers on the fourth day interfered with the carrying out of all the race program. A good string of horses was here at the races this year. The free attractions of foot jugglers and acrobats were to be seen from the grand stand each day. The crowd of fair goers on Thursday was preeminently large, the grounds being almost a solid mass of people during the middle of the day.

Despite the predictions of the pessimistic, who were sure that there could be only a very small agricultural exhibit this year on account of the drouth and unfavorable weather conditions, the display of farm produce was large. There was no fruit, or practically none, but that was true of nearly every county fair in the state this year. The stock stalls were unusually well filled and in some departments the contests were so close that the expert judges hired found it hard to place the little blue tags. A double yoke of oxen attracted attention, and reminded fair goers of their forefathers' days.

The art hall was one mass of beauty. The fancy work department was never so large, and judging from appearances Vernon county needle women must have been busily playing their needles for a twelve month. Canned fruits, jellies, jams, toothsome pies and cakes, numerous loaves of "the staff of life," many plates of Norwegian cookery, for which Vernon county women of that nationality are noted, and other delicacies were found in the cooking department.

In the furniture booth of Otto Dittson a sewing machine was given away to Mrs. J. C. Smith of Cashton, who held the lucky number—231.

A demonstrator gave away three chinamel outfits, the lucky recipients being Will Snell, Otto Ottosen and Mrs. Theodore Johnson. Rev. C. E. Butters, who is an authority on mushrooms, had a collection of over twenty different kinds. All were labeled, showing which were edible and which poisonous. A large case of birds, mounted by Raymond Spellum, taxidermist of this city, was an interesting collection of curios, obtained during his recent trip abroad. The flower pyramid was a thing of beauty. The C. C. Brown Music company had an exhibit of phonographs and pianos, and kept the crowds cheerful with music. A representative of the Canadian government had a fine collection of grains and other products. In the domestic science department of our city schools, samples of sewing were on exhibition and meals were served free of charge. Adjoining this department was the manual training exhibit where many useful articles, made by school boys, were arranged in groups. The art department was well filled, and many of the pictures attracted favorable comment. In the educational exhibit were a large number of maps, drawings, pictures, useful articles, etc.

F. W. Alexander, secretary of the fair, who with the other officers, labored hard to make the 1910 fair a success, has served in the capacity of secretary for twenty-one years, longer than any other fair secretary in the state.

N. C. Peterson went to Cashton today for a brief visit with his nephew.

Miss Kate Graves returned to Sparta after a visit with her cousins, the family of F. H. Graves.

Miss Ruth Smith of Sparta was a guest at the home of her cousin, C. J. Smith.

Carl Coe of Cashton was a visitor at the fair.

MOVING PICTURES USED IN SCHOOLS

Manager McWilliams of the Bijou Says Their Educational Value Is Great

Manager McWilliams of the Bijou theater, agrees with others that the moving picture is soon to have a place in the education of "young America" and says the value of the moving picture in the school room is greater than at present thought. It has been suggested for use in New York schools and papers all over the country have commented on it, he says.

"The great preponderance of editorial expression favors moving pictures in the schools," said McWilliams today. "There can be no question of that after looking over a great pile of clippings from the four quarters of the earth. Nor is this the expression entirely drawn from the inner consciousness of the worthy newspaper spacefillers; for in many instances it is mentioned that Mr. So-and-so, superintendent of the local public school, is advocating an installation of projecting apparatus in the new school. This is the kind of news that makes us think some of our dreams for the future of motography are coming true in a hurry."

"More instruction and learning of a decidedly practical and valuable sort can probably be imparted to children through the medium of motion pictures in a quarter of an hour than could otherwise be given in a week of steady school work, or possibly a month. As an educative force, the moving pictures of the right sort are without a peer. Things that people can see are more readily understood than the things which they read about or which are told to them. This is particularly true of youngsters. Many of the terrors of geography and history could be made clear to them with an appropriate moving picture. And the field for the making of such pictures is only limited to enterprise of the picture makers."

"Most all of the modern school buildings are equipped with large assembly halls, especially the high schools, and a series of moving pictures along educational lines, of which they are many in existence—and there soon would be more if there was a bigger demand for them—could be shown each week that would be of immense advantage to the pupils. That such use will be made of them, at least to a limited extent, before another school year ends, we can no longer doubt."

and Mrs. James Potts of La Crosse have been visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tate accompanied by her mother and by Mrs. Hall of La Crosse, were attendants at the fair.

James Smith has returned from a stay at Gettysburg, S. D.

W. W. Powell of Genoa has been visiting his brother, C. I. Powell.

Miss Evangeline Nestigen of Westby was a guest of her friend, Miss Lavina Peterson.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN.

A crowd of several hundred witnessed the game of ball between Sacred Heart college and McGregor on the college campus Sunday afternoon.

The game was well played by both sides and resulted in a score of 6 to 1 in favor of the college. Will Johnson, Archie Hahn and Roy Allen of Prairie du Chien played with McGregor.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the new state bank of Eastman held at that place on Thursday the following board of directors was elected: J. F. Pier, James Ertel, James Wallin, George Finney, Alfred and Walter Seidel of Eastman and Henry Otto of Prairie du Chien.

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of it souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by O. T. Erhart.

ASK PARDON FOR CAPTAIN HAINS

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A plea for executive clemency in behalf of Captain Peter C. Haines Jr., convicted of killing William E. Annis at the Bay Side Yacht Club on August 15, 1908, has been filed with Gov. Hughes, by Gen. Peter C. Haines, father of the prisoner. The governor today formally notified District Attorney Dewitt of Queens county of the receipt of the plea. The plea is based on both legal and sympathetic grounds. Haines killed Annis under the belief that the latter had ruined his home. His sentence was from eight to sixteen years in Sing Sing.

MAJESTIC ACTS AT INTER-STATE FAIR

Matinees at Theatre Discontinued During the Fair and will Be on the "Pike"

Personal solicitation on the part of C. S. Van Auker, secretary of the La Crosse Interstate fair association, has resulted in the securing as the feature of the "pike" this year, of three acts of the Majestic bill.

Manager Koppelberger has decided to take three of his acts to the grounds and every arrangement has been made for handling the crowds which will undoubtedly attend this act.

A tent that will seat 1,000 people has been secured and every afternoon, beginning Tuesday, the Majestic matinee will be held at the inter-state fair grounds.

The regular matinee will be held at the theatre Monday but on fair days there will be no show there.

Other features have been obtained for the fair this year which promises to be one of the best in the history of the association.

The race card is to be fast and some good horses will run here during the week.

ANALYSIS OF VOTE AT THE PRIMARIES

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—An analysis of the primary election returns by the Bureau of Statistics discloses many interesting features. For instance, La Follette carried every congressional, senate and assembly district in the state. He carried every county in the state. Out of a total of 2,022 precincts La Follette carried 1,929, Cook 80 and a tie vote was cast in 13. In 38 precincts La Follette received every vote. In 42 counties La Follette carried every precinct.

In addition to this Senator La Follette received more votes than Stephenson, Cook and Hatton together received in the primary two years ago. It also shows that a larger percent of the total vote for each party was polled; that the republican vote increased from 182,915 in 1908 to 185,349 in 1910; that the democratic primary vote increased from 37,479 to 48,268; that the socialist vote increased from 4,070 to 8,210. In percentages, the republican vote increased from 75 cent to 76 percent of the vote cast for governor in 1908. The democratic vote increased from 23 percent to 29 percent. Following is the vote on United States senator:

	1908	1910	Gain
Democrats	37,479	48,268	10,789
Republican	182,915	185,349	2,434
Sp. Dem.	4,070	12,280	8,210

MILLIONAIRE COP QUITS THE FORCE

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 26.—(Special)—Portland's "Millionaire policeman," as F. W. Peterson is known to the force, has resigned because his duties as an officer interfered with the proper care of his wealth. Peterson is worth in the neighborhood of $100,000, amassed largely through shrewd real estate investments.

The rich patrolman had already taken his annual vacation this summer, being allowed fifteen days, when a matter of business came up that would take him to Kansas City. He went to Chief of Police Cox and asked for a leave of absence for two weeks. Inasmuch as the force is still short a number of men who are away on vacations, Chief Cox demurred. The trip was so important that Peterson felt he must resign and forthwith handed in his star and keys and quit the force.
